CIRCULAR NO. 1/2021

Subject: Correction of the error in registration certificate with respect to registration period.

Attention is drawn to Circular No. 2/2018 issue vide file No. WDRA/2018/T/58-1 – 1802 dated September 6, 2018 providing for registration of warehouses for less than five years in case of limited period validity of security deposit. Though maximum period of registration as per the registration rules is 60 months and the same is reflected as default entry in the warehouse basic details with option to reduce the registration period as per the availability of the security deposit. However the registration period cannot be less than 18 months as per the above circular of the WDRA. It is reiterated that the security deposit has to be valid for six months beyond the proposed registration period.

2. Representations have been received from a number of warehousemen informing that by mistake they opted for 18 months registration whereas the security deposit was adequate for a longer registration period or for a full term registration of 60 months and the mistake could be realized only after the registration certificate was received. A request has also been made to correct the error by enhancing the registration period in proportion to the validity of the security deposit and issue modified registration certificate. .

3. The matter has been considered by the authority in the context of provisions under Rule 13. Sub rule (11) of the Warehousing (Development and Regulation) Registration of Warehouses Rules, 2017 and it has been decided that correction in the registration period based on validity of security deposit submitted at the time of registration, shall be permitted only once during validity period of approved registration (as given in the original registration certificate) provided the warehouse is active and the security deposit is for adequate period (registration period + six months) and of adequate value covering the corrected registration period.
